Global Classroom courses offer students the opportunity to participate in engaged, significant, and easily accessible credit-bearing international experiences that mirror in process, means, and impact the type of professional interactions they will encounter upon graduation: project-based, cross-cultural, and virtual. Through these courses, teams combining students from UMD and partner universities abroad will engage in international, project-based, collaborative work aimed at improving the global common good.

To find out more about the initiative and get help setting up your own global classroom, contact Dr. Raluca Nahorniac in the Office of International Affairs at raluca@umd.edu.

A Global Classroom course must be:

INTERNATIONAL
Offered in collaboration with at least one institution of higher education abroad.

PROJECT-BASED
Focused on projects with real life applicability, addressing current local or global needs.

COLLABORATIVE
Involves mixed teams of students from all participating institutions, working together on joint projects.

IMPACTFUL
Produces one or more final deliverables with a plan for their dissemination.

VIRTUAL
Makes use of digital technologies for teaching and learning.
